Federation Corner

I wear many hats involved with folk dancing and one of my duties for the Federation is that of Equipment Chairperson. I am in charge of the equipment and keep track of what we have, where it is, and keep it in good working condition. The Federation owns an amplifier, speakers, mini disc player & double deck cassette player, both of which have pitch control. This equipment is used for almost all Federation sponsored events. It is also available to any Federation Member Club for their festivals, parties, or any emergency that might come up. If your club has any questions about the equipment, please call me. I always have my own music and equipment in the trunk of my car and can help out in an emergency

I served as Vice President of the Federation, I am now a member of the Folk Dance Scene Committee, and I also work closely with my wife, Beverly, on the fall Camp Hess Kramer Institute Weekend. The responsibility of the music falls into my hands at many of the events. Beverly and I are very involved in folk dance activities and I enjoy the jobs that I am doing, but most of all I enjoy the folk dancing and the friends that I have made in the folk dance community.

I kind of started dancing when Beverly started teaching at the Pacific Palisades Recreation Center on Friday evenings in 1971. I went with Beverly to class to help with the music and slowly worked my way into the line and started learning to dance. In 1972, Beverly wanted to go to San Diego Camp and talked me into going. I was barely dancing. I went with the idea of participating in all the fun things, but had no intention of attending classes. I ended up taking all the classes and really got hooked. I became a member of Westwood Coop while at San Diego Camp that first year.

We moved our Friday class from Pacific Palisades to Brockton School in W. L.A., in 1973, and changed the name to West Los Angeles Folk Dancers and we are still there on Monday and Friday nights. This year is the 30th anniversary of our Friday night class. I am still hooked on the dancing and the people.

Summer Dance Fun

Summer is a busy time for folk dancing activities. Frankly, as we were putting together this list, we were amazed at the number and variety of choices. These pages are intended to arouse your interest in some of these activities. For each of them there is a phone number and e-mail address for you to get further information. Some of the descriptions are more complete than others - that is because the information was supplied to us by the folks running the event.

— Jay Michtom

Camps

Camps range in length from a weekend to a week or more, and they vary as to ethnic orientation, level of comfort, intensity of dance instruction, quality of food and many other criteria. There is something here to suit every taste!

Stockton Folkdance Camp

7/22–28, 7/29–8/4, (510) 888-6586, dancebruce@aol.com.

Two identical weeks. Teachers: Iliana Bozhanova, Richard Powers, Radek Rejsek & Eva Rejskova, Jerry Helt, Jennifer Kelly, Suzanne Rocca-Butler, Athan Karras, Ahmet Luleci. See ad for details.

Mendocino Woodlands Camps

Mendocino Camps take place in the lovely redwood forests, about 10 miles inland and several thousand feet above the town of Mendocino, California. There are three separate camps (1, 2 and 3), each of which has rustic cabins, but shared modern plumbing.

Razzmatazz

6/1-3, (707) 526-7552, marilyn@sonic.net.

Razzmatazz is already full with a long waiting list, but I think what makes it special is that we have wonderful live music all weekend featuring Edessa, Joe Finn, Leslie Bonnett and Vasil and Maria Bebelev. The weekend is really like a big party weekend. The folks who come to this are determined to have a great time – and they never disappoint themselves. Jeff O'Connor does a superb job of cooking and we all just enjoy being together and creating magical moments.

Scandia

6/15-22, (510) 841-7428, dancingroo@aol.com.

Each June, a group of about 100 people gather for a week of Scandinavian dancing, music and other activities. This is a relaxing and pleasurable dance camp experience in an absolutely beautiful setting away from the hustle and bustle of city life. Each year teachers and musicians from Scandinavia supplemented by American teachers and musicians come to teach and play wonderful music.

During camp most dancing is done to music played by musicians who love to play for dancing. Camp is also a place to visit with friends from afar, but it is the dancing and music that draw you back each year.

This year's teachers are from the Telemark region of Norway and will be teaching dances of that area, concentrating on the Telespringar. The week long camp allows ample opportunity to learn and practice many aspects of this dance – something not usually possible during once a week dance classes at home.

Of course, you can't dance all day. Meals prepared by Jeff O'Connor and his kitchen crew are a true pleasure here. Hiking, crafts, and language lessons are also available; but the dancing, music, and friendships are the reasons for dance camp.

Baratsag

6/18-24, (415) 468-6565, info@baratsag.com.

Hungarian music and dance camp.

Folklore

6/23-30, (707) 795-6926, phyris@akamail.com.

Mendocino Folklore Camp will be having its 40th year of wonderful activities in the Mendocino redwoods, and will feature some of our "old favorite" teachers, or styles of dance. Johnny Pappas is teaching Greek, Robert McOwen, Scottish, and Benjamin Hernandez is teaching Mexican Folklorico dancing. There are also classes in singing and music. In addition to having three hours of dance classes and one hour of singing or music, we have advanced workshops in the afternoon, plus opportunities for crafts, games and hikes. You can never be bored!

Each day at camp has a theme, and this theme is carried out in the (truly gourmet) food and the costumes and skits that people put together for the evening party. General levity is the order of the day. Come join us and enjoy yourself!

WIM BEKOORY AND INGVAR AND SALLY SODAL

August camp this year will be in the Jemez mountains north of Albuquerque and west of Santa Fe. Ingvar Sodal is a Scandinavian teacher who has ethnic charisma typical of those born and raised in the culture they represent. His wife Sally does him credit as a partner and is an excellent dancer and teacher herself.

With a personality as expansive as his stature, Wim Bekoory towers at almost seven feet. He is young and brilliant with a penchant for finding and enthusiastically teaching fresh and exciting material, from diverse areas such as Bulgaria, India, South East Asia, Mongolia and Albania.

We take especial pains to create memorable parties each evening, four in all, often with at least some live music. The food this year is completely in our control. The last time that happened, people talked about it as being a food camp with dancing! The dance floor is a new maple floor, not sprung but suspended. Accommodations are rustic, but not bad. Quarters are large cabin tents (you can stand up in them) on raised platforms with two people assigned to a tent meant to accommodate four. There are plenty of showers. Toilets are of both the indoor flush and outhouse non-flush variety, but again all are clean and well maintained.

Ethnic Food

These cookies by Sandy Helperin were featured at the Folkdance Scene party on March 24, and we are pleased to feature the recipes for our readers' pleasure this month.

GALLETAS de BODA (MEXICAN WEDDING COOKIES)

Also known as snowballs in the United States, kipfel in Austria, and kourambiethes in Greece.

- 2 1/4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup unsalted butter or substitute, softened
- 1 1/2 cups sifted confectioner's sugar
- 1 1/4 teaspoons vanilla extract
- 3/4 cup finely chopped nuts

Stir the flour and salt together in a medium bowl. In a large bowl, with a wooden spoon, mix the butter and 1/2 cup confectioners' sugar until smooth. Stir in the vanilla and the flour mixture and blend. Add the nuts.

Cover and refrigerate 2 hours or overnight. Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Shape dough 1/2" balls. Place on ungreased baking sheets, an inch apart, and bake one sheet at a time for 8 to 10 minutes. The balls should be set, but not brown.

Place the remaining 1 cup of confectioners' sugar in a bowl. Cool the cookies on a wire rack for 2 to 4 minutes, then roll each in the sugar, to coat. Cool completely on wire racks. Makes about 4 dozen cookies.

LEMON-TIPPED PISTACHIO BISCOTTI (ITALY)

- 5 tablespoons butter or substitute
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 1/2 teaspoons grated lemon peel
- 2 eggs
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 2 cups flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 cup salted, shelled, roasted pistachios, coarsely chopped

In a large bowl, beat butter, sugar and lemon peel. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well. Stir in the vanilla. Mix flour and baking powder in another bowl, and add to butter mixture, blending thoroughly. Mix in the pistachios. Divide dough in half and on a lightly floured board, shape each into a log, 1 1/2" in diameter. Place on greased cookie sheets, 3" apart and flatten slightly. Bake at 350 degrees for 15 minutes. Remove from cookie sheets and cut crosswise in 1/2" slices. Lay on cookie sheets and bake 10 minutes more. Cool on wire racks. Ice 1" on one end of each.

Lemon Icing

- 1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar
- 1/2 tablespoon lemon peel
- 1 to 1 1/2 tablespoons lemon juice

Mix 1 cup sifted powdered (confectioner's) sugar with 1/2 tablespoon grated lemon peel and 1 to 1 1/2 tablespoons of lemon juice.

RUSSIAN-POLISH STRUDEL COOKIES (JEWISH)

This recipe has been handed down in my family and remains a favorite. When you cut the loaves into slices you will invariably get lots of crumbs, but those are the cook's reward, and are not to be wasted!

- 4 cups flour (approximately)
- 3/4 to 1 cup sugar (depending on how sweet you like your cookies)
- 3 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/2 pound butter or substitute
- 3 lightly beaten eggs
- juice of 1/2 orange and rind (more juice if needed)

Filling:

- vegetable oil
- jelly or jam
- raisins
- shredded coconut, nuts, etc.

Mix flour, sugar and baking powder together. Cut in butter. Add eggs, orange juice and orange rind. The dough should be soft but not sticky. Add more flour if necessary. Divide dough into four equal parts. Roll each into a rectangle of about 8"X10", brush with a little vegetable oil and spread with your favorite jelly or jam. Sprinkle with any combination of nuts, coconut, raisins, dried cranberries, cut up pieces of maraschino cherries, etc. Roll into a log and carefully transfer to a cookie sheet. Bake at 350 degrees for about 15 to 20 minutes or until golden brown. Let cool slightly and carefully cut into slices.

Instructors are regional experts who have devoted their lives to promoting authentic styles of Greek music, song and dance. Slovakian Folk Dance Week, 8/1-5

West Slovakia is very rich in folk dances and culture - one can find there distinctive regions like Myjava, Záhorie and Trencínsko. Dances taught will be chosen mostly from these areas.

Mr. Ervin Varga, our main dance master of this event, guarantees an exceptional quality of dance classes, as he is a renowned expert on Slovakian folklore. We did our best to prepare a great time for you in Slovakia and I am sure that if you are interested in Slovakian folklore you will enjoy it!

Czech and Moravian Dance Week, 8/5-12

Let me heartily invite you to spend a week of Czech and Moravian folk dances in a completely new area where we have never been before - East Bohemia. This area is the cradle of many Czech folk dances, the world-famous Czech dance Polka among them. Meeting with local folk dance groups will be a special opportunity to learn more about the dances and understand the evolution of the folk culture in Bohemia. And we will not forget Moravian folk dances either.

Since Náchod is located close to the Polish border, we will undertake one or two trips to Poland to enrich the program with a visit to another Central Europe country and compare to Polish folk dances to the Czech ones.

Vintage Dance Weeks, Prague 8/19-26, Istanbul 8/27-31

Lessons in both English and French will cover vintage social dances from the 19th century to the 1930s. The program for 2001 includes a visit to the Karlštejn Castle, the pride of our country built in the 14th century by Charles IV, the King of Czech lands and the Roman Emperor, a jazz evening with a new and surprisingly original band, the virtuosity of Czech musicians, a choir accompanied by organ in a Prague church, an evening of rustic Czech folklore, and a surprise afternoon lost in time.

The Prague dance week will conclude on Saturday night with a Grand Ball at the spectacular Zofín Ballroom on an island in the Vltava River, fully restored to its original splendor.

Dance on the Water - Alaska, 7/17-31,
(510) 526-4033, meldancing@aol.com.

For her birthday last year, my wife wanted to go on the cruise to Alaska organized by Mel Mann. I did not want to go -- it's on a boat on the ocean (I get seasick), you have to get dressed up for dinner (I'm not too fond of ties), etc. I talked to Mel, I went, I had loads of fun! First, this is a casual and informal cruise ship -- so no coats and ties at dinner. Second, it is a calm area of water through the inland passage -- so no seasickness.

Mel has organized this folk dancers cruise for about 15 years. Each year he arranges for a dance teacher to lead the folk dance activities on board the ship. This summer, Jimmy Drury will be the dance leader. We usually danced twice a day at times that did not conflict with other major activities. We were in town to dance with the Juneau Folk Dancers and also had many folk dancers in Victoria join us on our ship's wooden deck for an evening of dance. Mel also arranged to share a few dances with the Tsimshian Indians in Metlakatla.

The weather was pretty much like I've heard of Seattle -- days of grey punctuated by hours of sunshine. Mel mentioned this was the worst weather he had ever seen. During the cruise, we stopped in eight ports for sightseeing. We could explore the area on our own or take one of the interesting extra cost Lebanon, Berovska Za Pojas and Mogilce from Macedonia, Glencar Reel from Ireland, Ijswals from the Netherlands, Kvelstad from Norway, Tora and Joc Batranesc from Romania, St. George's/Valetta from Britain, Pravo Rhodopsko from Bulgaria, Toicovo from Serbia, Kevi Czardas from Hungary, and others. We had seven or eight teenagers there, mostly home-schoolers from a group Jane and I started last year in the mountain area east of Albuquerque. We've been trying to attract younger people to folk dancing; and it is such a pleasure when we succeed, like reliving the time when you started dancing.

Again, Beverly and Irwin did a superb job in bringing many wonderful dances that (with the exception of Tom Bozigian's Ali Ali) were new to us. Thanks California, and thanks Beverly and Irwin!

AURICHS CELEBRATE THEIR 75TH BIRTHDAYS

On May 6th, Lila and Wally Aurich shared a 75th birthday party (thus they are each 37 1/2 years old). They did it with a Tea Dance, complete with a High Tea consisting of savories, delicious pastries, and, of course, many varieties of tea. About 70 people enjoyed ballroom and folk dancing on a lovely wooden floor.

Lila is a past President of Federation, a co-chair of a Statewide festival, and is currently the Chair of the Budget Committee. Wally has been a Federation delegate and Equipment Chair. Both have been involved in folk dancing for many years, in fact, they met many years ago at Westwood Co-op.

LETTER FROM A READER

I got my copy of "Scene" last Friday and I want you folks to know how proud I am to be associated with folks who can put out such a great magazine. I've read it cover to cover and keep it handy as a reference for others. Thanks for all your hard work and your support of Statewide.

P.S. where did you get that great picture of the Fremont Mall?

Ed.Note: Thanks for your kind words. Steve Davis found the picture that he used for the cover, after a long search on the Internet.

APOLOGY

The Balkan Coop at Cafe Danssa would like to extend a formal apology to all of those dancers who came to what had been advertised as a Russian-Romanian workshop with Alexandru David on Wed April 25th. Alexandru did not appear, nor did he contact us during the evening to say what had gone wrong.

We realize that some people traveled a long distance to attend this workshop, and we are embarrassed that we were unable to provide the teacher we promised to have. In the months to come, we expect to have other guest teachers-for example, Iliana Bozhanova who teaches Bulgarian dance will be with us in June. We hope that people who enjoy Balkan dance will regard the April 25th fiasco as an event that was beyond our control and will continue to support our efforts to keep Balkan dance alive in Los Angeles.

— Annette Ehrlich

Croatian Folk Costume Workshop

Zeljko Jergan, former dancer with LADO, presented an exciting lecture peppered with anecdotes and observations from personal experience. On display were costumes from various regions of Croatia, including Baranja, Slavonija, Posavina, and Cilipi. Other display items included books, dolls, and a beautiful sample of "pashki" lace from the island of Pag.

As part of the lecture, Katica (a dancer with St. Anthony's Tamburica and Kolo Club) was dressed in a beautiful many-layered costume from Valpovo. The eyelet work on the costume was absolutely stunning.

Zeljko Jergan Katica in Valpovo costume

In addition, Zeljko, who has done field research on Croatian folk dances, costumes, and customs, shared a couple of videos which he filmed during his research trips. One showed the braiding of the hair and dressing of the bride in a remote Croatian village in Romania. The second film showed peasant women spinning, weaving, and knitting while singing traditional songs.

The attendees thoroughly enjoyed the videos, the presentation of authentic costumes, the "sharing table" as well as the ethnic lunch that preceded the lecture.

Many thanks to the Zeljko, Heidi Granic, St. Anthony's Croatian Church, and the Costume Committee for making this happen.

Albuquerque Folkdancers Workshop

Bruce Eckhardt Irwin Barr
Beverly Barr, Gary Diggs, Jane Diggs

The Albuquerque International Folkdancers (AIFDF) had a spring workshop a few weeks ago with Irwin and Beverly Barr from Los Angeles. The idea for having the workshop originated two years ago at Camp Hess Kramer when Jane and I were inspired by the many fine dances Californians do that are virtually unknown in New Mexico. This workshop to a large degree remedied that. I should add, however, that there are a few dances done here that are not known in California; in one instance not because you don't do the dance, but simply that you wouldn't recognize the way we do it!

We have three recreational folk dance groups in (or near) Albuquerque plus one in Santa Fe and one in Los Alamos. All groups were represented at the workshop. Folk dancing in New Mexico has been continuous since the 1940's and perhaps even earlier. The AIFDF group in Albuquerque used to be one of the larger groups in the US, averaging between 100 and 120 people per week about ten years ago. It is considerably smaller than that now, but still respectable at about forty to fifty each week.

At just under sixty people, the workshop was well attended. Beverly, assisted by Irwin, expertly taught sixteen dances in all. Included were Ali Ali from excursions. We saw whales, puffins, dolphins, bald eagles, and other wildlife. Giant glaciers, mountains, and lots of trees could all be seen from the ship. We covered many miles of coast and 10 towns without packing and unpacking suitcases – it was so easy.

INFORMATION FROM THE SMITHSONIAN

There's lots of amazing stuff in the Smithsonian catalogue, including items of interest specifically to folk dancers. Moses Asch, who founded Folkways, issued music from all over the world, with detailed liner notes. When the Smithsonian acquired the label from Asch's estate, it was with the proviso that it adhere to the original commitment to keep EVERYTHING in print.

Originally that meant you could order items on cassette, but for a number of years archival titles have been available on CD-R, and are sent out with a copy of the original notes.

The label Smithsonian Folkways Recordings was started to issue new titles as well as for reissuing in proper manufactured form some of the old Folkways recordings for which there is high demand. These are remastered and the notes updated.

Unfortunately, we've been having a lot of problems with the web site, and the part that gives you access to the archives has crashed badly. They're working on it...

Your best bet (800) 410-9815, or (202) 275-1143. Ask them to send you both the current and the archival catalogue.

Smithsonian Folkways acquired Monitor a couple of years ago, so we do have those titles that were transferred to CD, plus a limited number of the old cassette tapes.

Last correction is that we moved in the Fall. The new information is: Smithsonian Folkways Recordings Smithsonian Center for Folklife and Cultural Heritage, 750 9th Street NW, Suite 4100, Washington DC 20560-0953

We have a great archive for research - many other records other than our own, recordings made of assorted groups that have appeared at the Smithsonian Folklife Festival over the years. Due to the complications of the move it is still not quite reassembled, but you can check with the archive itself to see when they'll be ready: For more info, go to www.si.edu/folkways, call (202) 275-1149, or e-mail ibarlas@erols.com.
